Good Morning and Happy May Day!

The above check in today includes some survey questions. Your participation in this survey is greatly appreciated. If you have been completing the daily check in, thank you very much and please continue to do so. There are 3 - 5 individuals in this class of 20 that have missed the check in on several occasions. If you have not been consistent with the check in, please, complete the daily check in when you see it. If you are not completing the check in, it indicates to me that you may be having difficulty. I will endeavor to contact home to check in to see if this is the case if I have not already done so.

We are also less than two months to go. From my end, I feel confident that you are gaining enough skill and understanding in chemistry to be successful in any future studies. This is the best that we can do under the circumstances. Covid has taken many things out of our control and has been a learning experience (at times a painful learning experience) for us all. What you do here on a daily basis is perhaps more in your control, at least I hope so. I hope that you have the presence of mind and the time to be able to focus and get through the work I am providing. Your efforts are greatly appreciated. With two months to go, please stay with this and do your part to be prepared for your future.

Sincerely

Mr. Schlenker

P.S. The work for today is to complete the second titration work sheet. Answers are on line: <http://www.schlenkerchem.org/4U/4U%20titrations/worksheets/ws%20titrations%20questions2.pdf>
