Go to where you left off yesterday. Please watch the video. Below the video are a sequence of slides (note the < and > symbols on either side of the slide to advance or return the slides). Read each slide and answer the following questions. You can reply using this email, or any other method that is suitable to you. PLEASE ANSWER IN FULL SENTENCES THIS TIME!

1. Mouth: What are two things that happen in your mouth to start the digestive process?
2. To the best of your ability, describe peristalsis. You may need to revisit the video for this.
3. What are two ways that the stomach digests food.
4. Where does almost all food absorption occur. What is meant by a large surface area?
5. Where is water absorbed in the digestive tract. Why can prolonged diarrhea cause you to become dehydrated?

When you have submitted FULL SENTENCE ANSWERS to the above questions, you are done for the day! (i.e. Question #3 might start off this way: The two ways that your stomach digests food is ...
